Aims and objectives

This English course is designed specifically for undergraduate courses English preparation, aiming to help students meet the English language entry requirements. It focuses on developing students' English language proficiency and academic literacy through various learning approaches. The course includes:

- Developing skills in understanding and analysing academic texts and using them effectively in writing and speaking
- Listening to lectures delivered by academics and other experts and taking effective notes
- Improving students' ability to speak in academic contexts, with emphasis on oral presentations and seminars
- Writing relevant, well-argued essays in an academic style
- Selecting, using, and referencing appropriate academic sources
- Enhancing critical thinking skills
- Engaging in independent study and library-based research, as required at UK universities
- More specifically, the course will focus on:
 - Reading and Writing: Enhancing the ability to comprehend and produce academic texts in various registers.
 - Listening and Speaking: Developing skills through lectures, seminars, and presentations in a university context.

Students will immerse themselves entirely in an English-speaking environment throughout their diploma course, particularly their English course, just as they are in the UK. The goal is to advance students' abilities in all four skills—listening, speaking, reading, and writing—to meet the demands of their degree programmes. By the end of the course, students should reach at least an IELTS equivalent of 5.0, with no less than 4.5 in each component.

Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this programme, students are expected to achieve the following outcomes:

Understanding of English Pronunciation and Intonation:

Students will have a comprehensive understanding of the rules governing English pronunciation and intonation, enabling them to comprehend and produce speak English more effectively.

Enhanced Listening Skills:

- Students will have practiced and refined various techniques to improve their listening skills, including:
- Anticipating the Text: Developing the ability to predict content and context.
- Listening for Specific Information: Identifying and extracting specific pieces of information from spoken texts.
- Listening for Details: Noticing and understanding detailed information within the context of the audio.
- Listening for Main Ideas: Grasping the primary message or main ideas of spoken passages.
- Interpreting Meanings: Understanding implied meanings and nuances in spoken English.
- Proficiency in Answering Different Question Types:
- Gap-Filling Questions: Accurately completing sentences or passages by filling in missing words.
- Short Answer Questions: Providing concise and accurate responses to questions based on the listening material.
- Multiple Choice Questions: Selecting the correct answer from a list of options based on the audio content.
- True/False Questions: Determining the validity of statements in relation to the listening passage.

These outcomes ensure that students not only understand the theoretical aspects of English pronunciation and intonation but also gain practical skills in listening comprehension and answering various types of questions effectively.

Teaching, Learning & Approaches

Learner-Centered Approach to Maximise Participation:

1. Engaging Lessons:
 - Lessons are designed to maximise learner participation through a variety of activities, discussions, and collaborative tasks that cater to different learning styles and preferences.
2. Interactive and Varied Instruction:
 - Lessons incorporate diverse and interactive teaching methods to address multiple learning styles, keeping students engaged and actively involved.
3. Formative Feedback:
 - Students receive timely and constructive formative feedback on assignments to support their learning and development.
4. Encouraging Critical Analysis:
 - Emphasis on fostering appropriate critical analysis skills, encouraging students to think deeply and evaluate information critically.
5. Developing Transferable Skills:
 - Focus on building transferable skills that are essential for future academic pursuits, alongside achieving specific subject outcomes.
6. Teacher as Facilitator:
 - Teachers act as learning facilitators, guiding students through the learning process and promoting an interactive and student-centered classroom environment.

Incorporating Technology Enhanced Learning (TEL):

1. Integration of TEL:
 - Module overviews highlight opportunities for integrating TEL both during class and in directed self-study, enhancing the learning experience.
2. Diverse Interaction and Media:
 - Use a variety of interactive materials and media to keep lessons fresh and engaging, particularly in relation to sources of input and content.
3. Preparing Digital Learners:
 - Provide a learning experience that meets the expectations of increasingly computer-literate students, preparing them effectively for studies at a UK university.

Differentiation:

1. Addressing Diverse Proficiency Levels:
 - Teachers will encounter classes with varying levels of proficiency and skill profiles and will differentiate instruction accordingly.
2. Differentiated Pair and Group Work:
 - Build differentiation into pair and group work activities, as well as directed self-study, to meet the diverse needs of students.
3. Tailored Support:
 - College Learning Support systems will offer tailored support to all students, ensuring that individual learning needs are addressed.
4. Directed Self-Study:
 - Use directed self-study as an opportunity for differentiation in task pacing and content, allowing students to progress at their own pace.

Directed Self-Study:

1. Encouraging Learner Autonomy:
 - Encourage learner autonomy while guiding students in task selection, monitoring progress, and providing prompt, constructive feedback.
2. Utilising Virtual Learning Environments (VLEs):
 - Employ college VLEs and other electronic resources to facilitate the monitoring and support of students' work.
3. Linking Self-Study to Class Content:
 - Ensure self-study tasks are connected to the content delivered during contact time, allowing students to review and build upon the target subject matter.
4. Opportunities for TEL:
 - Module overviews indicate opportunities for the integration of TEL both in class and as directed self-study, enriching the overall learning experience.

By implementing these strategies, we aim to create a dynamic and supportive learning environment that maximises student engagement, leverages technology, and addresses individual learning needs effectively.

Upon Completion & Learning Outcomes:

Upon completion of this programme, students should be able to: Personal Development:

1. Work Autonomously:
 - Develop the ability to work independently, managing time effectively and taking responsibility for their own learning.
2. Utilise Feedback:
 - Use feedback from the module tutor to identify areas for improvement and focus their self-study efforts accordingly.
3. Seek Additional Support:
 - Take advantage of opportunities for extra support, including academic resources, workshops, and tutoring sessions.
4. Engage in Interactions:
 - Actively engage and contribute to both social and academic interactions, whether face-to-face or online, to enhance their learning experience.

Academic Exploration:

1. Active Classroom Participation:
 - Participate actively in classroom sessions, contributing to discussions and collaborating with peers to deepen their understanding of the subject matter.
2. Familiarise with UK Academic Practices:
 - Become well-versed in UK academic practices and conventions, including citation styles, academic integrity, and critical thinking approaches.

Communicative Ability:

1. Effective Communication:
 - Use appropriate and effective methods of communication for different contexts, ensuring clarity and professionalism in their interactions.
2. Consider Classmates' Viewpoints:
 - Show respect for and consider the viewpoints of fellow classmates, fostering a collaborative and inclusive learning environment.
3. Enhance ICT Skills:
 - Seek opportunities to improve their information and communication technology (ICT) abilities, utilising digital tools and resources to support their studies.

Knowledge, Skills, and Experience:

1. Access Diverse Media:
 - Access and utilise a variety of media sources to gather information, broaden their perspectives, and support their learning.
2. Self-Study and Reflection:
 - Undertake self-study diligently and regularly reflect on their learning and progress to identify strengths and areas for improvement.
3. Collaborate with Peers:
 - Collaborate effectively with peers on group projects and assignments, leveraging collective knowledge and skills to achieve common goals.

Module Aim	The Listening section of the test is designed to evaluate a candidate's ability to understand spoken English in various contexts. This module is divided into four sub-sections: Everyday Conversation: The first sub-section features a dialogue between two individuals set in an everyday social context. This could be a casual conversation about daily life, activities, or plans. Monologue or Speech: The second sub-section consists of a single speaker delivering a monologue or a speech. This could include announcements, news reports, or other forms of public speaking. Academic Discussion: The third sub-section involves a conversation among up to four people in an academic setting. This might include discussions between students and professors, study groups, or seminars. Academic Lecture: The final sub-section is a monologue on an academic subject, such as a lecture given by a professor. This part focuses on topics related to higher education and requires the listener to understand complex information and terminology. Key Points to Remember: Each audio section is played only once, so attentive listening is crucial. Candidates are allowed to take notes during the listening sections. These notes can be invaluable for answering the questions accurately. The questions that follow each audio piece may include multiple-choice, matching, plan/map/diagram labelling, form/note/table/flow-chart/summary completion, sentence completion, and short-answer questions. Familiarity with different accents, such as British, American, Australian, and others, is beneficial, as the speakers in the recordings may come from various English-speaking regions. Preparation Tips: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Practice active listening by engaging with English audio materials like podcasts, news broadcasts, and academic lectures. • Develop note-taking skills to quickly jot down key points, main ideas, and specific details while listening. • Improve their vocabulary, especially academic and conversational terms, to better understand and respond to the questions. • Take practice tests under timed conditions to get accustomed to the pace and pressure of the actual test environment. By following these strategies and understanding the structure of the Listening module, candidates can enhance their performance and achieve better results in the test.

Module Aim	The Speaking Module of the IELTS test is designed to evaluate a candidate's ability to communicate effectively in spoken English. Certified IELTS examiners assess candidates' speaking performance based on four key criteria: Fluency and Coherence: Fluency: This criterion assesses the ability to speak at a natural speed without excessive hesitation. Students should be able to maintain a steady speech tempo, particularly in simple sentences. Coherence: This involves the logical organisation of sentences and ideas. Students should use cohesive devices, such as linking words, pronouns, and conjunctions, to connect sentences and ideas in a clear and orderly manner, enhancing the overall flow of speech. Lexical Resource: This criterion evaluates the range and accuracy of vocabulary used by students. It includes the ability to choose appropriate words and phrases to express meaning effectively. Additionally, students should be capable of using alternative vocabulary to convey meaning when they encounter unfamiliar words. Grammatical Range and Accuracy: Range: This aspect assesses the variety of grammatical structures used by the student. A wide range of structures indicates a higher level of proficiency. Accuracy: This evaluates how correctly the student uses grammatical structures. Elementary level focuses on using basic tenses accurately, particularly the past tense, while higher levels expect more complex grammar to be used correctly and appropriately. Pronunciation: This criterion assesses the clarity and intelligibility of the student's speech. Students should be able to pronounce words in a manner that allows them to be easily understood without causing strain to the listener. This includes proper use of stress, intonation, and rhythm in speech. Enhancements to Consider: Interactive Communication: Students should demonstrate the ability to maintain a conversation, respond to questions appropriately, and engage in discussions with confidence. Expressing Ideas: Candidates should be able to articulate their thoughts clearly and present their opinions, arguments, and narratives effectively. Cultural References and Idiomatic Language: Fundamental students should show familiarity with idiomatic expressions and cultural references that are appropriate to the context of their speech. Preparation Tips: Practice Speaking Regularly: Engage in conversations with native speakers or fellow students to build confidence and improve fluency. Expand Vocabulary: Read widely and learn new words and phrases to enhance their lexical resource. Grammar Exercises: Regularly practice different grammatical structures to improve range and accuracy. Pronunciation Practice: Use resources like language apps, pronunciation guides, and speech repetition exercises to improve clarity and intonation.

	By focusing on these criteria and incorporating these enhancements into their preparation, students can significantly improve their speaking performance and achieve better results in the IELTS Speaking Module.
Upon Completion & Learning Outcomes	Upon completion of this programme, students are expected to achieve the following outcomes: Enhanced Speaking Skills: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Pronunciation and Intonation: Master the rules of English pronunciation and intonation, enabling clear and comprehensible speech. • Presenting Ideas: Develop the ability to articulate thoughts clearly and logically, presenting ideas in a structured and persuasive manner. • Interactive Skills: Improve interactive communication skills, including the ability to engage in discussions, respond to questions appropriately, and maintain a conversation effectively. • Formal Speaking Skills: Gain proficiency in formal speaking contexts, such as giving presentations, participating in debates, and conducting interviews. • Oral Fluency: Achieve fluency in oral communication, speaking at a natural pace without undue hesitation or repetition. • Body Language: Utilise appropriate body language, including gestures, facial expressions, and eye contact, to enhance verbal communication and convey confidence. • Effective Communication with Teachers: Build the ability to communicate effectively with teachers and other authority figures in an academic setting, including asking questions, seeking clarification, and participating in classroom discussions. Additional Skills and Competencies: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Cultural Sensitivity: Understand and appropriately use cultural references and idiomatic expressions, demonstrating an awareness of cultural nuances in communication. • Critical Thinking: Develop the ability to think critically and express opinions and arguments clearly and confidently. • Listening and Responding: Enhance listening skills to understand questions and comments fully and respond appropriately in real-time conversations. • Preparation and Practice: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Regular Speaking Practice: Engage in regular speaking exercises, including conversations with native speakers, to build confidence and fluency. • Vocabulary Expansion: Continuously learn and practice new vocabulary to enhance lexical resource and expressiveness. • Grammar Proficiency: Practice using a wide range of grammatical structures accurately and appropriately in spoken English. • Pronunciation Exercises: Utilise tools such as language apps, pronunciation guides, and repeated practice to improve pronunciation and intonation. By focusing on these techniques and developing these skills, students will be well-prepared to excel in spoken English, both in formal settings and everyday interactions.
